

READYFLUSH® & READYFLUSH® JR PREMOISTENED FLUSHABLE WIPES

READYFLUSH®

The first truly flushable & dispersible healthcare wipe

ReadyFlush from Medline is the first truly flushable wet wipe designed for the healthcare market. Medline developed ReadyFlush wipes in response to consumer concerns over sewer and septic system overload, staff compliance and cross-contamination.

Unlike other flushable wipes – which are essentially smaller versions of standard wipes – ReadyFlush wipes are truly dispersible. They break down just like toilet paper when flushed. All ReadyFlush wipes are made from 98 percent cellulosic fibers, which are highly biodegradable. While these fibers break down quickly when flushed, they also provide superior strength during use.

Won't clog the sewer/septic system

ReadyFlush wipes break apart in a manner similar to toilet paper when flushed and are safe for sewer and septic systems. The wipes clear toilets and properly maintained drainage-pipe systems when used appropriately. A good rule of thumb: You should be able to safely flush a volume of ReadyFlush wipes equal to the volume of toilet paper your system can easily clear in one flush.

Safe for delicate skin

ReadyFlush wipes are pH balanced, hypoallergenic and alcohol free. They cleanse and moisturize the skin with clinically proven phospholipids and soothe with the touch of aloe in every wipe.

READYFLUSH WIPES meet the acceptance criteria for flushability

READYFLUSH WIPES pass the Flush Index Dispersion Test for dispersibility

Flush away odor-causing bacteria

The ability to dispose of ReadyFlush wipes in the toilet provides an added measure to reduce cross contamination. Pathogens, odors and human excrement are flushed out of the facility and won't linger in the waste receptacle. This contributes to a facility's overall infection control strategy.

Convenient for caregivers

ReadyFlush wipes are three times larger than other flushable wipes (9" x 13"), allowing caregivers to perform quick and easy clean-ups. Tubs or soft packs of ReadyFlush can be kept at the patient bedside, ready for use.

Won't pollute the environment

ReadyFlush wipes are biodegradable and will not have any harmful effects on the environment. As a biodegradable product, ReadyFlush supports the vision of Hospitals for a Healthy Environment (H2E).

ReadyFlush Jr

ReadyFlush Jr has all of the unique features of ReadyFlush in a standard baby wipe size (7" x 8"). ReadyFlush Jr is the first ReadyFlush product to be both fragrance-free and free of active ingredients.

READYFLUSH WIPES pass the ASTM Test Standard E1720-01 for aerobic biodegradability as administered by the Stevens Institute
